

CAN'T YOU HEAR IT ?

INSPIRATION in IMAGES

"Can't you hear it? Can't you see?
It is in the silent, the quiet in me."

A black and white photograph of a lit candle in a decorative, perforated holder. The candle is lit, and its flame is visible. The holder has intricate cutouts, including a large floral or leaf-like design on the left side. The background is dark, making the candle and its holder stand out. The quote and author's name are overlaid on the image in a white, handwritten-style font.

"There is a silent deep place in the mind of man."

A close-up photograph of a bouquet of pink roses on the left side of the frame. On the right side, a single lit candle is shown, its flame bright and glowing against a dark background. The overall mood is intimate and nostalgic.

"It is then shall I recall that warming glance, a mothers smile, an awkward dance, a red chair, a little boy, who only wished to care.
It is only now shall that true sparrow in me, emerge.
Silently,
Silently."

"When nothing was needed and fulfilment was not known."

To him who has, shall it be given, the choice of man, man now living.
Wander ye, among the thorns, clinging he, his heart forlorn.
For a greater good, not told to man, for man has known, yet man, has no plan.
Yet settle he, upon the earth, feel the touch, the touch of birth, he looks around and sees no pain, no human pull, no human gain.

He prays...

It is when a man can look upon the view he has, understand it as uniquely his own, contemplate the opposite, then allow for the in-between.
It is then he should resign to failure, inspire to greatness, pack it all together and say nothing, for fear his tongue betray him and hope through grace that grace exists.

"if you did not already have knowledge of the source you would not have where it is so naturally felt."

A wide-angle photograph of a sunset over the ocean. The sky is filled with large, dark clouds, some of which are illuminated from below by the setting sun, creating a dramatic orange and yellow glow. The sun is partially obscured by a thick layer of clouds near the horizon. The ocean is dark with small, choppy waves. In the distance, a single sailboat with a dark sail is visible on the horizon line. The overall mood is serene and contemplative.

"Silent moment kiss my face, perfect moment perfect place."

A serene sunset scene over a harbor. The sun is low on the horizon, casting a warm, golden glow across the sky and reflecting on the water. Several sailboats are anchored in the harbor, and a forested coastline is visible in the background. The overall mood is peaceful and contemplative.

"Oh, to see this simple thing and to understand it's not we who sing."

Does the perfect relationship come from the unity of all things, is the struggle of humanity to find consolation within relationships a cry for the perfect, a desire for the unseen, the human scene merely an imperfect circle reflecting upon a perfect being, already connected to everyone, so connected there is no other, just one?
